ACCUCOMS represents academic, society and professional publishers around the world. We offer services in Europe, North America, Latin America, the Middle East, North Africa, India, Turkey and Asia Pacific.

Libraries are contacted on behalf of a publisher to purchase directly, or through a subscription agent of their choice. Our representatives are the main liaison between publishers and libraries.

We have an extensive knowledge of local languages and customs and this opens doors, strengthens bonds, and helps us achieve excellent results and long-term growth.

Our global teams act as an extension of the publisher's staff in a dedicated territory. In fact, when addressing us a library directly addresses the publisher.

All prices presented and negotiations conducted are based on the publisher's exact price models. ACCUCOMS does not add any commission and does not interfere with the relationship the library has with subscription agents.
